

In the Abstract

Please replace the Abstract of the invention with the following rewritten Abstract:

A shaving apparatus having a skin contact surface accommodating at least one cutting unit including an external stationary cutting member, a matching internal cutting member, and a device for providing a shaving aid to the skin contact surface and a shaving aid retainer provided on at least part of the skin contact surface.